Pertinent Paragraphs

New Organist—Mrs. J. C. Villiers has been engaged as organist of Kahului Union Church.

Chamber of Commerce Meeting—The regular monthly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will be held next Thursday afternoon.

Tax Case Ended—Hearing of the tax appeal case of H. C. & S. Co., was completed this week. Counsel and witness from Honolulu returned to the capital city Wednesday.

Called to Hilo—Judge L. L. Burr is leaving for the Big Island tonight having been asked by the chief justice to go there and hear some cases the first of next week.

Supervisors Meeting—Maui supervisors will begin their August meeting next Wednesday. Bids on some important projects will be opened on Friday, among them being for the Iao Valley road.

Office in Lahaina—Dr. J. Y. Ting now spends the second week of each month in Lahaina, his Wailuku office being closed during that time. An office has been fitted up for him at Pioneer Hospital.

Molokai Deputy—Levi Joseph, who was named as deputy sheriff of Molokai has returned from Honolulu and he and Sheriff Crowell will go to Molokai today where the new deputy will assume his office.

Boat Reported Found—Sheriff Clem Crowell has received a report that the row boat in which two men drifted away from the vicinity of Olowalu some two weeks ago has been found on the shore of Lanai.

Thief is Sentenced—Tomas Salvador, the Filipino ex-convict who was arrested for numerous depredations in and about Camp 5, Puunene, pleaded guilty to two charges before Judge Mossman last Tuesday and was sentenced to one year confinement in the penitentiary on each charge.

Prompt Action Saves—Fire on the roof of the Ching How restaurant on Market street was extinguished by the prompt action of Hiram Laa, an employee of the Wailuku water department. Passers by saw the smoke and gave the alarm. Laa secured a bucket of water from the restaurant kitchen and proceeded to the roof and put out the starting flame.

Pilot Car Coming—The Honolulu Advertiser's "pilot car" with John Ness, assistant manager of the Advertiser, A. A. Greene of the editorial staff and Albert Williams, staff artist, is expected to come to Maui next week. The party is mapping the roads of all the islands, gathering data and pictures and purposes to issue an automobile blue book of Hawaii. Maui is the last of the islands they will visit though their work on Oahu is not yet completed.

Benefit Performance
For Children's Home

Two entertainments are soon to be offered from which the Children's Home fund will benefit. One will be in Haiku and the other at Paia.

About the middle of last month there was an entertainment given at Haiku by some of those who are working in the cannery of the Haiku Fruit and Packing Company. It was a fine success and the entertainers, most of whom were girls from the other islands, offered their services for any deserving charity. The offer was accepted for the Children's Home fund. The Hilo High school girls who are over here will also share in the profits.

The first of the entertainments will be a concert and dance which will be held in the Paia Orpheum a week from tonight, Friday, August 12, and the second will be in the Haiku Theater, a musical and concert, a week from next Monday, August 15.

From the reports received from Haiku, both the entertainments should be well worth while.

Wailuku Church Refuses
To Sell Its Interest

Attempts to settle the estate of Polly Kalua have failed owing to the refusal of Wailuku Union Church to sell its estate in remainder in the property.

Polly Kalua, by her will, left to her husband, Judge Kalua, the use and enjoyment of her entire estate so long as he should live and on his death it is to go to the Wailuku Union Church and Kaahumanu Church in equal shares. The Hawaiian Trust Company was named trustee.

Recently Judge Kalua offered to purchase the remainder estates from the two churches, to pay each church $5000 for its half interest in the estate in remainder. Kaahumanu church voted to accept the offer, but Wailuku Union Church turned it down.

As the matter now stands, Judge Kalua is in possession of the property and its title will not vest in the churches until after his death.

Manager H. B. Penhallow went to Honolulu on the last Kilauea.

Mrs. Foster Robinson writes from Santa Barbara that she is having a wonderful time. She had motored south from San Francisco and was about to proceed on to Los Angeles and San Diego.

Mrs. Edward B. Blanchard left Maui Saturday night and on Wednesday proceeded on the Mauna from Honolulu to the mainland, where she will join her husband, Captain Blanchard, in South Carolina.

Ready for More
Father—Is he thrifty?
Daughter—Thrifty, daddy! Why, Jack's saved over $10,000 out of that $100,000 his grandfather left him year before last.—Boston Globe.

When Coffee
Came To Hawaii

Even though the early missionaries came from Boston, there is no record that they brought either tea or coffee with them. One historical authority says a Frenchman introduced the coffee tree into Hawaii in 1823, establishing a small plantation in Manoa, Oahu.

Ever since that time coffee has been grown in the Islands.

Experts declare the Hawaiian product, mild and of high flavor, is equal and generally superior to all others. It truly attains perfection in Mayflower Pure Kona Coffee, that wonderfully delicious brew.
